Step (1)
Use the targets of the project to identify which household domains you should focus on
Step (2)
Use the selected domains to identify the relevant indicators
Step (3)
Use the selected domains, sub-domains and indicators to identify the most relevant questions from household surveys
Step (4)
Adapt the survey questions to fit with the proposed project for baseline and evaluation surveys
Step (5)
Use survey questions to collect data from end users
Baseline survey questions: before the implementation of the project
Evaluation survey questions: after the implementation of the project
*Disaggregate data by sex, gender identity, age, ethnicity, disability, physical ability, the level of education and literacy, geographical location, occupation, income, etc.)
