Cambodia's Clean Cooking Future, Powered By You

Thank you to all of our in person and online attendees, including HE Amida Prak, speakers, exhibitors and all participants who brought their energy to discuss opportunities to accelerate the investment, innovation, partnerships, commitments, and policies needed to achieve access to modern energy cooking solutions for Cambodia and co-create a roadmap capturing the conversations held over the two days.

Our event, and the insights generated, would not be possible without your energy.

This is not the end, Stay Tuned!

We still have more iteration to do with the roadmap scaffold developed during the workshop, and will be reaching out to to develop and refine this further.

This will involve:

- Small group or individual consultations with key stakeholders around key thematic areas which emerged during the workshop
 - Final road map refinement workshop
